CHARLEY GOODWIN

BIOMEDICAL ENGINEERING

Charley Goodwin, biomedical engineering student, created a coveted position in UC's International Co-op Program with Johnson and Johnson in Germany. She led her classmates through several projects and was recognized for her achievements in cooperative education last spring. Charley plans to pursue a PhD and has been accepted into the prestigious biomedical engineering program at Clemson University.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Spencer Pelton completed three co-op terms at Blizzard Entertainment, a large video game developer and publisher in Irvine, Calif. After graduation, he'll work full-time at Blizzard as a game producer/program manager on Overwatch, World of WarCraft: Battle of Azurah, and WarCraft: Reforged. Spencer has mentored fellow IT students, developed a useful application to help students job search, and presented at a "World of Gaming" information session..

ARCHITECTURE

Emily Sprunger stands out in a class of many excellent emerging architects. Ware Malcomb, BHDP Architecture, and most recently SJL Design Group were especially impressed with Sprunger's level of preparation, enthusiasm, communication skills, teamwork, creative thinking and ability to analyze and prioritize. Moreover, they say, she is simply "a joy to be around."
